

vHc

VIRGINIA HUMANITIES CONFERENCE

Conference Schedule: This schedule is tentative and will be modified. A final schedule will be emailed to conference attendees in early March.

Thursday, March 22nd

8pm—1st Keynote speaker: Lynn Schofield Clark, “Parenting in the Digital Age” (see below)

Friday, March 23rd

8:00am–6pm—registration [Colket Center lobby]

8:00—breakfast

8:30–10:00—panel sessions 1

10–10:30—break

10:30–12—panel sessions 2

12:15—lunch / Dean's welcome

1:15–2:00—Poetry reading: Susan Facknitz

2:15–3:45—panel sessions 3

3:45–4:30—break

4:30–5:30—performance, Roanoke College Children’s Choir
and Annie Stevens & Andrea Venet, Percussionists

5:30—informal dinner on your own, in groups for interested parties

Saturday, March 24th

8am–2pm—registration [Colket Center lobby]

9–10:30—panel sessions 4

10:30–10:45—break

10:45–12:15—panel sessions 5

12:30—lunch

1:15–1:45—TBA panel

2–3:30—panel sessions 6

3:45–5—delegates meeting

5:30—banquet

7:00—2nd keynote speaker: John Wall, “Ethics in Light of Childhood” (see below)

Sunday, March 25th

Additional sessions may be scheduled for Sunday morning.

Keynote Speakers:

Lynn Schofield Clark (Thursday)—Director of Graduate Studies, University of Denver; Dr. Clark’s book From Angels to Aliens: Teenagers, the Media, and the Supernatural (OUP, 2003) received the Best Ethnography of 2003 Award from the National Communication Association.

John Wall (Saturday)—Chair of the Department of Religion and Philosophy, with a joint appointment in Childhood Studies, at Rutgers University (2005 Provost’s Award for Teaching Excellence). He is the author of Ethics in Light of Childhood, Moral Creativity, as well as Children and Armed Conflict. He is also the coeditor of a nine-volume book series, Religion, Marriage, and Family.